Fifteen underprivileged families were given well laden baskets at Thanksgiving consisting of turkey and all the trimmings, also added supplies such as flour, coffee, etc.

Plans have been arranged to do the same at Christmas with Mrs. Bertha Polk as chairman of this committee.

D. C. C. Donald W. Clevenger arrived home last Sunday when the ship he has been aboard returned from the Korean fighting zone. Donald is the son of Mrs. Fay Clevenger of Lakeside. The family met him when his ship arrived and later enjoyed dinner aboard ship.

Decorations Up

Lakeside's Christmas street decorations are up and the Christmas tree for the Kiwanis Christmas party for Orphans is brightly lit.

Boyd, upon whom falls this chore, is again breathing freely (at times we mean) but he's keeping his fingers crossed hoping no lights will go out.

Up We Go

Pacific Tlephone applied today to the California Public Utilities Commission for a rate increase varying by cities which would average for the state as a whole about 3½ cents a day per telephone including taxes.

"Higher rates are necessary," according to Sidney S. Campbell, manager of the telephone company, "because of inflation as reflected in higher costs of materials and supplies, increased taxes and higher wage costs.

"General price levels have increased 90 per cent since the 1935-1939 period, established by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics as 'normal'." During the same period California interstate telephone rates increased only 24 per cent — including some rate reductions."

In six post-war years Pacific Telephone spent $815 million in California for service improvement and expansion, more than doubling the telephone plant in service. In 1952-53 the company plans to put an additional $326 million in California to bring the total to more than a billion dollars in less than a decade. From the end of World War II to January 1952 Pacific Telephone plant investment in the El Cajon exchange increased $2,077,500.00 or 464 per cent.

Commenting on this construction program, Campbell said, "It has been financed at post-war inflated prices; telephone rates on the other hand have lagged behind the inflationary spiral. This has resulted in an adverse effect on our company earnings. We must improve our financial condition in order to meet our state's growing need for telephone service."

Typical rates applicable in the El Cajon Exchange.

1-party residence — Present, 4.30; Proposed, 5.70.

2-party residence — Present 3.25; Proposed, 4.40.

4-party residence — Present, 2.70; Proposed, 3.50.

1-party business — Present, 12.50; Proposed, 13.75.

Use Boyd Building For Package Mailing

Postmaster Oaks wishes to inform all who have Christmas parcels to mail them at the Boyd building, the former Playmore Club adjoining the Lakeside Cafe which is now being used to handle package mailing. The overcrowded conditions in the Post Office made it mandatory that additional space be secured and Forace Boyd donated the use of the building.

Through the courtesy of the U. S. Navy a steelphone on the order of a walky talky was obtained and connected to the auxiliary building.

Postmaster Oaks urges all who have Christmas mailing to do, to do their mailing early and avoid standing in line.

Board of Education Loses Good Man

Carl B. Quicksall, member of the County Board of Education from the Third District, retired from the Board at a meeting held on December 3.

Mr. Quicksall has been a member since 1949, and is the first member of the elected County Board of Education to retire.

During the 1951-52 school year he was elected to serve as President of the Board, a position which he handled most effectively.

Mr. Quicksall's background, before his election to the Board, contained many of those experiences which make an educator outstanding. Before coming to this state in 1920 he was a teacher and a district superintendent in Oklahoma. From 1920 to 1924 he taught at Grossmont, and then in 1924 he was asked to serve as Principal of Grossmont Union High, a position which he held until he retired in the year 1944.

At this December 3 meeting held in the Supervisor's Chambers, the Board unanimously adopted a resolution thanking Mr. Quicksall for the contributions he had made during his term of office.

He will be replaced by Dr. Charles R. Tupper who was elected in June, 1952.

Bill of Rights Week Being Observed

"This 1952 observance of the Bill of Rights Week has been the most gratifying demonstration of rededication to our basic American principles the Southland has seen in many years."

This was the statement of Joe Crail, Chairman of the Bill of Rights Week Committee, as he reported hitherto unequalled interest and participation in the observances marking the 161st Anniversary of the signing of the Bill of Rights. Bill of Rights Week this year extends from December 9th through 15th.

Crail especially praised the Southland newspapers for their aid in bringing the importance of the Bill of Rights to the public. "The support of the traditional American free press is something for which all of us interested in the Bill of Rights can be grateful. Perhaps, more than any other phase of our American life, our newspapers represent the kind of freedoms we all enjoy under our Bill of Rights. Without the help of the newspaper, and other media, the tremendous public participation in the Week would not have been possible."

"Every community in the Southland is doing something constructive to call the attention of its residents to the importance of perpetuating the freedoms our founding fathers established," Crail said.

"All this week and for the next few days, there will be a long series of community pageants, speeches by civic leaders, church and court participation, and school and student activities, all calling attention to the Bill of Rights."

Traffic Checks Due for Holidays

SACRAMENTO — Preliminary plans were made today by the California Highway Patrol for widespread use of traffic checks as a measure against holiday auto deaths.

Patrol Commissioner Clifford E. Peterson credited traffic checks over the 1951 Christmas holiday with substantially reducing the rural highway death date from the year before.

"Even so," he said, "8 persons were killed and 231 were injured in a 30-hour period. That's too many."

Violations frequently turning up in traffic checks are drunk driving, operating an unsafe vehicle with burned-out lights, faulty brakes or other mechanical defects and driving with an invalid or no operator's license.

Peterson said he realized most drivers are law-abiding and many of them probably resent being halted.

"Frankly, I don't blame you," he told them. "But by pulling that drunk driver or that car with bad brakes off the road, we might be preventing a fatal accident in which you were destined to be an innocent victim."

Almost 170,000 vehicles were halted in traffic checks over the Christmas and New Year's holidays last year with more than 3500 citations and nearly 6500 written warnings issued.

Since tuberculosis is caused by a germ which can be pased from person to person, ANYONE can have the disease. More than 400,000 Americans were estimated to have TB last year. Buy and use Christmas Seals.

AMERICAN FAIR PLAY

A very smelly deal is now ancient history. We refer to the unification attempt.

It did not go over. The credit for defeating this most worthy project(?) is entirely due to the La Mesans whose sense of fair play, justice and honest Americanism made them go to the polls and overwhelmingly defeat a move whose paralll could only be found in communistic dominated countries. It renews our faith in our way of life when we find ourselves deprived of our right to vote on matters in which we have a financial and moral interest and find that the sense of justice is still uppermost in American hearts as was demonstrated by citizens of La Mesa last Friday.

It is wonderful to live in such a land as ours knowing that our neighbors will make it their special business to see that right prevails.

We cannot too highly praise the people of La Mesa, their Chamber of Commerce and last but not least Lester Freeman.

LAKESIDE DISTRICT SCHOOL NEWS

STUDENTS COME THROUGH

Hearing that we grown-ups were having trouble with the Community Chest Drive, boys and girls in our Lakeside Schools agreed to lend a hand. Red Feather containers were placed in each classroom, and students were invited to contribute their pennies, nickles and dimes, on a strictly voluntary basis. The drive ended Friday with a total of more than $25.00 contributed. Good work, kids, say we, and thanks for the assist.

WE CONTINUE TO GROW

Mrs. Vivian Birdsell, who keeps our District enrollment and attendance records at the Education Center, reports that the total enrollments of pupils in the Lakeside School District as of last Friday, was 960. A year ago this figure was 816; we have, in short, 145 more pupils in our classrooms today than we did last year.

NEW CLASSROOMS NEEDED

At 35 pupils per classroom, four classrooms are required to accommodate this increase in enrollment for one year. Data gathered over the past several years seems to indicate that the rate of population increase in this area is accelerating rather than decreasing, and that our need for new classrooms will become greater rather than smaller. At any rate, it is evident that new school construction will continue to be a serious problem for a long time to come.

COMMUNITY UNDERSTANDING IMPORTANT

Your Board of Trustees, assisted by the P. T. A., the Citizens Education Committee, and other groups of interested citizens, is giving careful attention and constant study to the problem, but their continued success in keeping up with the problem and in keeping our children free from double sessioning, will require continued understanding and support on the part of parents, and other citizens.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE TO MEET

At the next meeting of the newly formed Citizens Education Committee to be held in the District Education Center beginning at 7:30 p. m., January 26th, the sub-committee on school facilities will consider the Lakeside growth problem at length, and will report on the results of their population survey now in progress. Also on the agenda will be reports by the committees on school district re-organization, and the school testing program. All who are interested are cordially invited to attend. Voting membership on the citizens committee is open to each organization in the community, and if it has not already been done, group presidents are urged to appoint delegates to attend the meetings.

CHRISTMAS PARTIES AND PROGRAMS

Room mothers are planning something new for the upper grade Christmas parties. All Seventh and Eighth Graders will attend a combination party and dance in the Cafetorium where refreshments will be served Smorgasbord style.

Elementary students are also busy planning, with their teachers and room mothers, the organization of individual room parties. All parties are scheduled for Friday, Dec. 19th, and we are confident that, as usual, a good time be had by all.

Both schools, now that they have multi-purpose rooms, are also planning Christmas programs this year. At the Lakeside School, according to Arthur Stone, Faculty Chairman, the program will be held in the morning and will consist of a play put on by Don Phillips' ... ma Class entitled, "Raindeer ... relief," and of numbers by Mr. Kendall's band and glee club.

At the Lindo Park School, Walter Phillips and Mrs. Hester Whitely will be in charge. The program will be held in the multi-purpose room Thursday, Dec. 18th, and will consist of Christmas songs and skits prepared in the various rooms. Room parties at Lindo Park will be under the supervision of Mrs. Marcella Williams, general chairman for P. T. A., and will be held Friday, Dec. 19th. More details concerning the programs and parties will be available in next week's issue. Parents and other interested citizens are cordially invited to attend.

In keeping with the rest of the County, Lakeside schools will be closed from December 19th to January 5th for Christmas vacation.

New High School Bond Election

Trustees of the Grossmont Union High school district agreed Monday that a bond election will be necessary early in 1953 to raise needed funds for a High School in El Cajon.

Surveys according to Supt. Smith indicate that next year's enrollment in Helix and Grossmont will be 4200. By 1954 an increase of 300 is a conservative estimate bringing the figure to 4500. Basing the percentage of increase on past growth the 1955 figure will be 4800. This means double sessions in both schools unless a High School in the El Cajon area is available.

A bond election early this coming year according to Smith will provide enough funds to start construction on the El Cajon school and make the opening of the plant in the fall of 1953 possible.

The rise in property values Smith stated will provide adequate bond money to construct the school without state aid.

The board is also considering purchase of two new sites for future school development.

Sites proposed are in the Lemon Grove, Spring Valley area, the other in the Lakeside-Santee area. Smith stated that by 1960 secondary school population will reach 700, making it mandatory to have High school in these population centers.

Legal Employment of Minors Encouraged

School authorities are unanimous in their opinion that employment of young teen-agers, where the employment does not impair their health or interfere with their school work, is beneficial and should be encouraged, according to the State Department of Education.

The State Department feels that there are many types of work which can be done safely, satisfactorily and legally by children in the 12 to 18-year age group, but that some employers are reluctant to place these young people in positions because of a misunderstanding of laws which regulate their employment. As an aid to better understanding of the employment of minors, the following information is given.

Minors between the ages of 12 and 18 years may be employed, under specified conditions, provided they have work permits. The work permits are issued by school authorities who are familar, not only with the child labor laws, but with the school and health records of each individual to whom a permit is issued. Brief instructions to employers are printed on the work permit forms, and issuing authorities are always glad to assist employers in any possible manner.

Minors under 12 years of age may not be employed; 12 and 13-year-old minors may be employed only on Saturdays and days that school is not in session; 14 through 17-year-old minors may be employed on school days, but only for a number of hours which when added to the hours spent in school equal eight in any day.

Tuberculosis kills more people between the ages of 15 and 34 than ANY other disease. Buy and use Christmas Seals.

Chamber Elects New Slate

The Chamber of Commerce at Monday's monthly dinner meeting elected a practically new slate of officers. This slate will go a long way in bringing new ideas into the organization, as well as satisfying the old-timers who claim, and with much truth, that all civic work always falls on the same shoulders, whereas those who do the most curbstone criticizing always have an excuse to avoid taking office.

Elected were Dick Murray, President; Bob Watkins, Vice-President; Mildred Langlois, Secretary; and four directors, Velma Lake, Doug Biggs, Bill Koppel and Harvey Bain.

This coming year the Chamber's headquarters will be located in the office of the Lakeside Star where the new secretary, who is managing editor of the Star will be able to handle both jobs.

The Chamber plans to put up a prominent sign to enable strangers to the community to find the office and obtain any needed information.

With this new group of officers the Chamber's future never looked brighter.

Among matters touched upon at Monday's meeting President Murray gave notice that petitions regarding the community's desire in the matter of seceding or not from the hospital district had been placed in various local business houses.

Murray also informed the group present that the Union Title Co. was preparing a brochure on Lakeside which would be completed as soon as the renaming of the streets project was finished.

Guest speaker was Rev .T. E. Roberts of the Community Presbyterian Church who gave a history of Christmas and the way it was celebrated in various Christian nations.

Mrs. Lake introduced the new manager of the Builder's Store, K. L. Dittus, and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Dittus are from Los Angeles, and will make their home in Lakeside.

Prices will remain the same as regularly charged by the merchants and will fit every pocket book. A nice assortment of Julian trees will also be available for those desiring something better.

The Optimists wish to thank the local merchants for their full co-operation and to express their deep appreciation.

BUY YOUR TREE FROM

THE OPTIMIST CLUB

"Friend of the Boy"

The cooperation of the local merchants in turning this entire Xmas tree business over to the Optimists who will use the proceeds to further their boys work deserves special mention.

The Optimists will have the trees on display on the lot North of the bank across from the fheatre and will have trees priced to fit all pocketbooks.

Lakesiders are asked to help in this move and cooperate to the limit.

Elks To Observe Bill of Rights Day

A special program for the celebration of Bill of Rights Day Monday, Dec. 15, will be observed by the El Cajon Elks. December 15 is the 161st anniversary of the first ten amendments to the Constitution of the United States. "The amendments that make up our Bill of Rights are the liberties enjoyed by Americans," stated Exalted Ruler Dr. Robert Rosen.

In a message to the membership Exalted Ruler Rosen stated "It is our purpose to re-dedicate the citizens of our community to the American heritage of freedom." In conclusion, Rosen warned, "Let this be a notice to the enemies of freedom that the El Cajon Elks are jealous of their liberties and will always be ready to defend them against atack from within or without."

Past Exalted Ruler Joseph H. Blaha is appointed chairman of the Bill of Rights Day observance. The observance will be preceded by a dinner, followed by initiation of a class of candidates.

To Offer Class In German and French

The Grossmont Adult School may offer a class in Conversational German and also a class in Conversational French after the Christmas Holidays. These classes will be designed to meet the needs of beginners as well as to meet the needs of those who need a brush-up in either language.

The development of German or French classes will depend on the amount of interest shown through telephone calls to the Adult office, H6-4155 (please call after 6:00 p. m.) or by the number of cards we receive requesting either or both of these languages.

This is your chance to learn a new language at a convenient meeting place.

Lakeside Kiwanis Minstrel Success

The Lakeside Kiwanis Main Street's Minstrel Revue at Memorial Building at Lakeside Friday night, Dec. 5, was enjoyed by a capacity house. Monte Hall, Channel 8 star, proved himself a capable interlocutor dressed in resplendent Western regalia while the Minstrel circle wise cracked about Lakeside personalities.

The Song Shiners led by Bart Moser of San Diego all dressed in brown gabardine suits held the audience spellbound with their true barbershop harmony.

A. J. Crouch proved himself not only a singer but dancer as well in "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy."

Tom Barkdull made us all think of Ted Lewis when he sang "When My Baby Smiles at Me." Gerry Hammon of El Cajon took us into the deep South as he sang "Lindy Lou." Carrol Kemp had the audience in stitches as he related why Claude Weston of Lakeside Farms lost his dog.

Enola Smith thrilled the audience with George Gershwin's "Summertime" but the high spot of the evening was Louise Wolfe impersonating Sophie Tucker and Fannie Brice. Louise stopped the show until she sang "White Christmas" and then the listeners begged for more.

The Crosley TV drawing was won by Marilyn SouthScott of El Cajon whose husband is in Korea. Marilyn is employed at the Broadway Bakery on Broadway and Magnolia, El Cajon.

The table lamp, a gift of Kirk's Furniture Center of Lakeside, was won by Owen Bela, owner of Advertisers Printing Service of Bostonia. A separate drawing was held just for the small fry which was a huge panda, a gift of Coronet Store in El Cajon and won by Sidney Walker, whose father is superintendent of schools of Lakeside. The TV set was the gift of Milligan Electric of El Cajon.

The show was for the Kiwanis annual Christmas party for underprivileged San Diego County children. Eileen McKay of Phoenix directed the show. This is the third successful show Mrs. McKay has done for the benefit of Lakeside Kiwanis underprivileged funds.

Eliza McCardle was only 17 years old when she married Andrew Johnson, who later became president of the United States.

HOSPITAL CHANCES NONE TOO GOOD

The proposed Grossmont hospital faces some tough sledding with the passing of proposition 20 according to Homer Streich director, on the new hospital district board. This propostion made all non profit hospitals eligible for state and federal aid. Prior to the passing of this proposition the Grossmont District was one of twenty eligible. Now there are two hundred eligible. This is going to spread things so thin that our chances of competing with these big hospitals are very dubious.

BRIDE AIDS CHURCH

Sport Car Racing To Be Held Sunday

Torrey Pines comes to life once more on Sunday, Dec. 14, when the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce takes over the promotion of the 2.7 mile Road Racing course, presenting to the Southland five spectacular events filled with some of the finest sports car racing equipment to be found in this country.

Phil Hill, just returned from the Mexican Road Race, will drive a Spl. Jaguar XK120C, with an Aerodynamic Factory Designed Body. Hill has driven the Jaguar to victory in one or two of the Eastern meets. Al Coppel has forsaken his Spl. Bodied M. G. in favor of a Nordi-Spyder which has proven its worth every time one competes in under 1500 cc meets. Randy McDougal of Canoga Park will air his new OSCA for the second time. You can't miss this little automobile when it comes on the course, because of its size and noise. The car has a very small engine of 1100 cc's that turns in the neighborhood of 8000 RPM's. The OSCA is exceptionally small in size carrying a very lightweight streamlined body. Great expectations are carried for Randy and his new dream car.

To the people of yesteryear in San Diego, when Lane Field was known as Sports Field and Motorcycle racing was so popular, comes an old familiar champion in the person of Wilbur "Tommy" Tomoreaux. Tommy now has a motorcycle and Singer Auto Distributorship in Pasadena. The singer car, in his thoughts, has not shown as well as expected, so Tommy has entered one of the little 1100 cc cars to show the MG's and Jowett Jupiters the short way around Torrey Pines.

In the line-up for Sunday, you will see Chuck Manning and his homemade racer that garnished 2nd Place last Torrey Pines Race. Hard, consistant driving Don Parkinson will be driving his own Spl. Bodied Jaguar XK 120. Johnny VonNuemann will have his Spectacular Porsche on the course as will Bob Doidge. It is our understanding that there will be approximately five or six of these super fast rear engine cars competing Sunday.

A new face to San Diegans, but well known up and down the Coast, is Arnold Stubbs, driving a Cad-Allard J2X. Stubbs, at the last Torrey Pines race was biding his time in Korea, practicing in an Army Tank.

Women To Help In Red Feather Drive

San Diego's women can be the saviors of the community's ailing Red Feather Fund, it was revealed this week by Edward S. Hope, vice-president of the organization.

Every woman in the city and county has been asked to mail a Christmas present of $2 to the Fund to bring it up to the $1,050,570 urgently needed to maintain the 56 agencies here, such as the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, and Children's Hospital, during 1953.

There are approximately 180,000 women, 18 to 65, in the county, Hope said. If each of them gave $2, their contributions would total $360,000. This would put the Fund well over the million-dollar mark.

"Whether or not they, their husbands or families have already given," Hope said, "we are asking every woman to contribute at least one dollar."

Though the campaign officially ended last week, continued efforts will be made to bring in the almost $400,000 needed. Nine weeks of active campaigning has produced little more than $650,000 of the all-time high goal this year.

Two thousand volunteers organized into "flying squadrons" also will solicit as many city and county areas as they can this week to help bring in the lacking funds, Hope said.

"The urgent need for these funds is something we cannot ignore," Hope said. "We simply cannot accept defeat. The women of San Diego County can put us over the top if anyone can."

Hope asked that contributions be mailed to Red Feather Headquarters, 1266 Seventh Ave. Contributors may either send checks or cash, he said, or they may pledge an amount to be paid during next year.

The Man At The Keyhole

By OPERATIVE WB

In picking a State Legislature this year, Californias preferred Republicans 2-1. When the Legislature convenes January 5, it will consist of 29 Republican Senators to 11 Democrats and 54 Republican Assemblymen to 26 Democrats—a greater edge for the GOP than last year.

With the Presidential Inaugural being sponsored by Packard over CBS, General Motors over NBC and Willys over ABC, Washingtonians must be hard put to it to guess the make of the official White House car Ike will choose.

In the aftermath of the '52 campaigns, many observers are positive the patient reported on by an anoynmous surgeon was a politician. "I recently operated on a man whose heart was on the wrong side and who had two gall bladders," says the doctor!

Buy Xmas Seals

The current Christmas Seal campaign is more than just a fund-raising device to provide funds to fight tuberculosis in this area. The San Diego County Tuberculosis and Health Association, sponsor of the local drive, uses the Christmas Seal appeal letter to carry educational facts about TB to thousands of local families.

Stimulated to a new awareness of the disease, thousands of residents throughout the county have taken a more active interest in the local problem.

Many, in sending in their contributions to the Seal Sale, have requested additional information about the disease. Typical of many notes received by the local Association is one penned by a National City woman.

She asked, "Just how serious is the tuberculosis problem in San Diego County? Isn't TB pretty well under control now?"

Maybe you've asked a question like that. Unfortunately, tuberculosis is far from being under control. The means to control TB are now known, which should be an incentive to wipe out the disease. But statistics for 1951 show that we still have a long way to go.

At the end of the past pear, there were more than 1600 known cases of tuberculosis in our county. More than two thirds of these cases were at home, even though hospitalization is recommended for the cure of tuberculosis.

Eighty-seven persons died of TB last year in this county, ranking it first among the leading causes of death of ALL contagious diseases. Of these 87 deaths, well over half were virtually unknown cases, undiscovered until death or shortly before.

It is these unknown cases of tuberculosis which present a serious problem. They are among us in everyday life — riding the same buses, eating in the same restaurants, sitting in the same theaters — spreading TB germs.

Case finding activities throughout San Diego County in 1951 uncovered more than 300 new cases. The Chestmobile, carrying a miniature X-ray unit to every part of the county, and the TB Clinic were active throughout the year. But it is still up to the individual to help wipe out this disease.

The TB Association recommends routine annual chest X-rays for every individual over 15 years of age. Only by discovering EVERY unknown case and curing the victim can the tuberculosis problem be eliminated.

Tuberculosis kills more people in San Diego County than all other contagious diseases combined, includingpolio. Buy and use Christmas Seals.

A Chuckle for the "Power Barons"

There is nothing funny about the disastrous feat of the Fair Dealers in cutting the buying power of the dollar in half over the last decade. But there is unconscious humor in the new idea of Washington bureaucrats to make the current dollar look a lot bigger, comparatively, by changing the method of relating it to the sound dollar of yore.

For years, now, the dollar's purchasing power in the 1953/'39 period has been the "basic" dollar and year by year, as inflationhas soared, Fair Deal dollars have shrunk until today's buck is worth but 52 cents against the dollar of a decade ago. The new proposal is to take the price structure of the period 1947/'49, when inflation was already far advanced, as the measuring stick for purchasing power. That would, obviously, step the relative worth of current dollars up several dimes!

The thought of this sort of statistic-juggling must give quite a high-voltage laugh to managements of one of the pet targets of the Truman administrations, the private power companies. These whipping-boy companies, presented in Fair Deal propaganda as profiteers which should be put out of business in favor of government-owned power setups, still have the last laugh at the bureaucrats, no matter how they figure the worth of a dollar.

Since 1939, going back to the period of the 100-cent dollar that so embarrasses the dying Administration, the public's bills for electricity have risen by approximately 8 per cent, nation-wide, while the dollar's value has dropped by 48 per cent! Which means, figured in any way, by any "base" dollar value of any period, the amount of "juice" a dollar will buy actually has been on the rise!

Which leaves another disturbing, for the Administration, thought in the air: Just who has been responsible for inflation—economically operated private industry, or the bureaucrats who have been in power? To ask the question is to answer it!

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER, JR.

Saturday, January 3, 1953, the 83rd Congress of the United States will convene. It is the second Republican Congress in 20 years, and one calculated to give the first Republican President in 20 years, Dwight Eisenhower, good solid support as contrasted with President Truman's in-and-out congressional backing.

Interesting highlights concerning the incoming Congress are many and varied.

While California's Dick Nixon, as Vice-President, will preside over the Senate, after inauguration, January20, there is only one other possibility of a Californian assuming a post of high leadership in the new Congress. Bill Knowland, the State's senior Senator, might be elected Majority Leader.

California, incidentally, with a total of 30 Representatives in the new Congress due to reapportionment ,is sending 11 Democrats and 19 Republicans to the House this coming year in place of the 10 Democrats and 13 Republicans who represented the State the past year.

Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr. of Massachusetts undoubtedly will be the GOP choice to replace Democrat Sam Rayburn of Texas as Speaker of the House.

On the Senate side the picture is not at all clear as to majority leader. Senators in addition to California's Knowland reportedly in the running for the number one spot are Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, Homer Ferguson of Michigan and Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Congressional Quarterly statisticians report the average age of 83rd Congress Representatives is not quite 52, while that of members of the Senate is 57.

William C. Wampler, Republican of Virginia, the youngest Congressman, according to the Quarterly ,is but a year over the minimum age of 25, while the oldest member of the new Congress will be Senator Theodore Francis Green, Democrat of Rhode Island, who is 85. California Representative Joe Holt is 28 and Representative Pat Hillings is 29.

Over 80 per cent of the members of the House, according to the Congressional Quarterly, have had prior congressional experience and 94 per cent of the Senators have served the Nation in Congress before. Only six of the new members of the Senate have no previous Congressional experience!

Thirty-six States are sending two members of the same political party to the Senate. Eighteen states went Republican and 18 Democratic. Eleven States are sending a Senator from each party. Oregon is sending one Republican Senator and one former Republican, Wayne Morse, now a self-styled Independent.

Membership of the new House of Representatives includes 213 Democrats, 221 Republicans and one Independent. The new Senate apparently will consist of 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats and one Independent.

A Dull Century!

We read that a New England citizen accredits his having reached the age of 97 to a lifelong exclusive diet of what he calls the "four B's"; namely, baked beans, brown bread, brown sugar and boiled vegetables.

We pass this on for whatever it may be worth to any reader with a yen for long life. The wonder to some, however, must be why the man, limited to that fodder, wanted to live for 97 years!

Bill of Rights Day

Next week falls the 161st anniversary of the Bill of Rights, the first ten Amendments to the Constitution, which became effective on December 15, 1791. In all that long while, we Americans, generation after generation, have become so accustomed to living under the freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights that we may incline to take them for granted and to let the day go by with out even bothering to reread them.

Only last week, in Czechoslovakia, 11 men were hanged after conviction on various incredible charges in a trail in which their only "right" was to plead guilty. They knew their role in advance. They, as well as their accuser-judges, were Communists. Some of them had ben in high political offics. They knew what to expect. Their own attorneys represented the prosecution. Dutifully they "confessed" to get the inevitable over with in the prescribed manner of their brutal society.

How strange it would have sounded in that courtroom to hear these excerpts from the Bill of Rights read from the judges' bench: "No person . . . shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself . . . The accused shall enjoy the right to a trail by an impartial jury . . . and to be confronted with the witnesses against him, to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense."

A rereading of the ten brief paragraphs that comprise the Bill of Rights should be enough to make every American grateful to the noble men who enacted them into imperishable law. It should also remind Americans that they have one of the most precious heritages that the minds of men ever created and secured for a Nation sinc the beginning of time.

SPARKS

BY JAMES DORAIS

During the campaign for passage of Proposition 2, which carried in all but two of California's 58 counties by a resounding majority of more than one and one-quarter million votes, the California Teachers Association, sponsors of the measure, were taken to task by opponents and some legislators for voicing its belief that increased State support for schools could be financed without increasing State tax rates.

Proposition 2, which increased State support from $147 per child to $180, will cost approximately 67 million dollars per year.

In a printed analysis of the financial aspects of Proposition 2, the Teachers Association made the following statement: "Based on every existing trend, every existing fiscal fact, and on any reasonable and objective interpretation of those trends and facts, it appears self-evident that Proposition 2 can be financed without increasing State tax rates."

That statement was challenged by State officials and others during legislative hearings and in opposition publicity. Official State estimates of expected revenues and expenditures were pointed to as basis for the charge that increased State taxes, contrary to CTA contentions, definitely would be needed to finance Proposition 2.

In rebuttal the Teachers Association pointed out that as a matter of policy, State officials consistently over the years had overestimated State expenditures and underestimated State revenues, and that huge General Fund "surpluses" have resulted year after year from this practice.

In view of this serious difference of informed opinion on the effect of Proposition 2 on State finances—and continued predictions of increased State tax rates have been freely made by official sources since passage of the measure—the official report of State revenues for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1952, which has just been issued by the State Controller's Office, is of more than passing interest.

The report reveals that State General Fund revenues for the year just ended totalled $733,-210,000. That figure is 15 million dollars greater than the estimate used by the Teachers Association in its financial anlysis which was vigorously challenged before legislative hearings. The figure is 92 million dollars more than the original budget estimate made by the California State Department of Finance!

Of further interest is the fact that the State Conroller's financial statement for the first four months of the new fiscal year (the period from July 1 to October 31) shows, that although State budget estimates for the current fiscal year were based on an anticipated increase in revenue for the entire year of only $8,229,000, already revenues have exceeded those for the corresponding period last year by $10,-272,424!

The California Teachers Association contends that its estimates represent a reasonable projection of long-term trends and are based on the assumption that the present level of business activity will continue in the foreseeable future. It will be extremely interesting to see, in the year 1953/54, when Proposition 2 takes effect, whose position will be justified by fact in this argument over the need for higher State tax rates to finance the increased level of State school support.

A Lady Democrat Gets Riled!

Inez Robb, thewell known columnist, last week loosed a blast at Oscar R. Ewing, the Social Security administrator, for making her madder than anything that transpired in the heat of the recent presidential campaign.

She had, she relates, hoped that with the election fading into history "my dander and I could simmer down and collapse cozily together." Then she goes on:

"Unfortunately, our television was working the other night, and I paused in front of it long enough to hear Mr. Ewing explain the election of Mr. Eisenhower as directly traceable to a 'Fuehrer' complex on the part of the American people.

"Mr. Ewing further compounded the felony by spelling out what he meant in easy terms, saying that what the American people wanted was someone to do their thinking for them—ergo, Mr. Eisenhower.

"Fortunately for the Republic, Mr. Ewing, who has been trying without success to sell his brand of socialized medicine to the Nation for years ,has no impressive record as even a part-time prophet. It also unfortunate that politicians of the Ewing stripe are never able to give the electorate credit for intelligence in either quality or quantity.

"If ever there was an election that proves the American people can and do think for themselves, and are determined to control their own thinking and destiny in the future, it was this year's ballot revolt. I ought to know: I'm one of those Democrats who couldn't stomach the whole kit and kaboodle, including Oscar, a minute longer!"

Beyond doubt that lady Democrat expressed the reaction of many thousands of citizens who happened to hear Ewing's "dander-raising" demagoguery; but few others have expressed it so pungently!

4 California High Rating 4-H'ers

ALL-EXPENSE trips to the 31st National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago were awarded four California club members for superior achievement in the 1952 National 4-H Dairy Achievement, Farm and Home Electric, Field Crops and Home Improvement programs. The state winners and summaries of their achievements follow:

Raymond Lucas — Donna Winkler — Lowell Glenn — Charles Mays

An outstanding 4-H Field Crops record yielded state honors to Raymond Lucas, 15, of Clements. Living on the 480-acre farm of his father, Lester H. Lucas, he put to good use the skill and know-how gained during 3 years in field crops. Raymond's trip to the Club Congress in Chicago was provided by International Harvester. Two years ago Raymond and his brother Stanley went into partnership to grow Certified Arwat barley as a 4-H project. The first year the boys learned enough about growing certified seed to give a demonstration which won them first place in the county and third at State Fair. This year the boys planted a grain variety test plot consisting of 20 different varieties of grain. They took notes on the way each variety grew and recorded the diseases of each. Their results showed them which grain varieties would give them the best yield in their particular area.

Of a practical bent, Donna Winkler, 16, of Sebastopol, turned her efforts to making the interior of her home more comfortable and attractive. Little did Donna realize that good planning and painstaking efforts in the 4-H Home Improvement program would net such a fine reward—state honors and an all-expense trip to the Chicago 4-H Club Congress from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation. She painted the walls, ceiling and woodwork of her room and installed a light fixture. With help from her father Donna put in a sub-floor of plywood and over it laid asphalt tile; put a new headboard on her bed and built a closet. Donna then made a bedspread and draperies, a quilted dressing table skirt and lamp shades. Not content with just beautifying her own room, she helped remodel the kitchen and bathroom of her home as well as her brother's room.

State winner in the 4-H Farm and Home Electric program, Lowell Glenn, 17, of Exeter, was awarded the Westinghouse Educational Foundation all-expense trip to National Club Congress. A better understanding of electricity and the know-how gained during five years in the project, has meant greater productivity, better management and more leisure time for the Glenn family. Lowell made a test lamp, a table lamp, converted two push button switches to blade type and installed two duplex convenience outlets. He made the table lamp by taking an authentic coal oil lamp and electrifying it. An electric tool box constructed by him was awarded first at County Fair. Lowell's future plans include the electrification of a new utility building on the Glenn ranch. Lowell will be attending the University of California for the next four years and will continue his electricity project as an absentee member of his local club.

Charles Mays, 17, of Porterville, has received recognition for excellent work in dairy production and management. As state winner in the 4-H Dairy Achievement program, he will attend the Chicago 4-H Club Congress as the guest of Lederle Laboratories. A 4-H'er for eight years, Charles learned the application of modern, scientific methods, and the importance of cleanliness and sanitation in the handling of dairy animals. Young Mays started in 1945 with one animal and now tends a herd of 13 dairy cattle. This year proved very successful despite the fact that he lost a cow that was a top producer as well as an outstanding show ring performer. Charles is the proud possessor of two trophies for champion stock, and one for showmanship, as well as three medals and a plaque.

Dang if I don't begin to think our new president-elect is going to wear his own pants. I did not vote for Ike because I could not swallow Taft, McCarthy, Jenner, Capehart or Dircksen, feeling that with Taft on that cart the tail would wag the dog. Well, when Ike appointed Durkin as his Secretary of Labor thereby upsetting Taft's ulcers it began to look to me like Ike is wearing the pants. Hope he follows through.

In thinking out loud, as 1952 draws to a close, I wonder how many of us feel any sense of security in looking forward to 1953.

To continue thinking out loud one of my main peeves for the past few years has been the inexcusable rise in traffic fatalities.

We break the record every [illegible] tons of howls are published [illegible], meetings are held when the top brass and big shots give ponderous opinions, get their mugs in the press then go right out and forget about it.

Our judges tell us they're concerned about this and continue to dish out fines then suspend part or all of them on the theory that the violators are then kept on probation, all of which has as much effect on trying to end traffic deaths as trying to sink a battleship with a bean shooter. The last of these very, very important safety luncheons was held by Supt. Howell last month. Not a word since then. The day after this meeting traffic officers were passing out tickets like donuts at a U. S. O. dance. Since then what? In the first place there is only about 30% enough highway patrol officers. In the second place suspended fines are a joke. A thirty day vacation at the new road camp near Borrego would go a long way in helping create respect for the laws.

Another thing I don't just get through my head is why San Diego post office trucks and city garbage trucks get away with some of the stunts they pull off.

Another stinker is members of foreign consulates being immune to arrest for traffic violations.

These birds who represent some two by four nation can violate every trafic law in the book and yet can't be pinched. Seems to me that when a nation sends representatives here they are subject to all laws.

Then we have this matter of court congestions where the judges yelp about overwork. This is really rich when you consider that with the new change here in this district there will be no night court and the court will be closed on every holiday and by holiday I mean anything that passes as an excuse for a holiday.

Having no ambitions to pose as a prophet I still will stick my neck out and predict that 1953 will top the 1952 record of fatalities.

I also want to commend the El Cajon police department one-man traffic squad on their record so far.

THE OBSERVER...

We took out last week to see how many things we could see on the Highway that might have caused accidents or caused the average motorist to lose his temper. Beginning at Glenview going West we got about halfway up the hill when we came up behind a truck and trailer loaded with baled hay.

Most of you know what that means - if you don't it means just stay put till you have a chance to pass this road- blocking snail. While you crawl behind him your thoughts can dwell as to how much he pays to keep up the highway, burning diesel oil while you burn high octane. Coming East against us were a fairly steady stream of cars all going around fifty miles per hour. Suddenly near the top of the hill a car cut around to pass this stream. Had we not been behind that hay truck we would have been forced to hit the bank. That was number one.

After we got to the top we could see a clear chance to pass which we did at a fifty mile clip. Just as we got about opposite to the Lariat Cafe some mutt took it in his head to renew an old acquaintance and dove across the highway. Business of putting on brakes and burning tires. That episode over and still making use of our surplus vocabulary we come around to where Broadway runs into Highway 80. While we were still some five hundred feet away a station wagon coming from Broadway was waiting at the intersection. In as much as there were a line of cars following us we took it for granted that this station wagon was waiting for us to pass. So help us just as we were within less than thirty feet away the wagon jumps out in front of us. This meant action right now, so we swing right to avoid this wagon and right in front of us looomed a school bus parked. Business of plowing into the bank to avoid the bus. Behind us the sound of burning rubber and screeching brakes. We backed our car out and by this time one of the motorists who had just missed the station wagon had turned around and took after it. Being of an inquiring nature we watched our chance and followed. Said station wagon was driven by a dame we'd guess in her forties. In the station wagon with her were five children, none over five years of age. We asked this intelligent looking knuckle-head if she was trying to make headlines. Said dame highly indignant at being stopped informed us that she was taking these children home to their mothers from a party, secondly that she had been driving for years and never had an accident, and third, that she had as much right to the highway as we did. Having no ready answer to that and knowing that if we followed our thoughts we'd end in the gas chamber we backed our cars around and took off. Stra-Van's sign reminded us that this would be a good place to stop seeing as we needed what they had to offer.

From there we took off with nothing between Stra-Van's and Second to disturb us. At Second some bird coming East cut into Second. We or she missed each other by a frog hair. By this time our conversation to ourself had become a steady montone dealing mostly with ancestry.

From then on nothing happened till we came to Mollison where we stopped to let some pedestrians cross. We were in the left hand lane stopped but some bird in an awful hurry in the right hand lane didn't stop and as a result scared this pedestrian out of a ten year's growth. We agreed with the remarks one of the pedestrians hurled after this motorist.

At Claydelle it was the other way around. There we stopped to let pedestrians cross, two of them crossed like gentlemen but the third, a lady (?) in seam busting jeans waited on the curb till they were almost across then proceeded to cross, at a gait approximately one twentieth of a mile per hour. When she got right in front of us she stopped, pulled a pack of cigarettes out of the pocket of her guaranteed to neither shrink or fade mail order flannel shirt, took her time in lighting this not a cough in a carload then proceeded a couple of feet at the same gait, stopped and called her mutt that was waiting to see her cross ere he followed. By this time our remarks to ourselves seemed to leave an odor of scorched upholstery. Our opinion of pedestrians could only be printed on asbestos linen.

By Millie

The days are rolling by quickly and before we realize it the holiday season will be with us. Decorations are outstanding around the various communities with overhead lighting telling all of us that Christmas is just around the corner. Our own community have their streets gaily decorated and the various windows around town are beginning to show the artists hand at work. It's a wonderful time of year when everyone gets sentimental and wants to do something to make someone else happy. "Pease on earth, good will toward men," what a wonderful phrase if it were only so, but for many of us who have sons far from home, it's hard to get in the spirit of gaiety.

Have you seen the many lovely things down at Kirk's Furniture Center? Drop by and look them over, we feel sure you don't have to leave Lakeside if it's lamps, tables, or any furniture for that matter, that you want. They have a good assortment at reasonable prices.

Huffman's are really splurging this year and have oddles of nice gifts, and also trimmings for your holiday table and tree.

The Optimists have their trees ready to be sold so when you're ready to get yours, don't forget to go look theirs over first before you trot off to some other spot where they no doubt will cost more and not be any better. Another thing the proceeds will go towards the boys work in Lakeside, and that is so important. REMEMBER THE CHRISTMAS TREES at the Optimists headquarters on Maine Ave. next to the Security Bank.

Going home to lunch Tuesday I noticed a large group of artists painting scenes of our lake and trees across from the Lindo Park School. It was a beautiful setting and I for one would love to see some of those paintings when completed. Evidently they came from San Diego as they used a chartered bus for transportation. The mountains and scenery around Lakeside are perfect for any artist, we can vouch for that.

Many families in Lakeside were made happy at Thanksgiving when they received baskets of food to make a perfect Thanksgiving dinner, and the contribution made through the U. S. S. Bataan members made this possible. It was reported to us at the Welfare Association that the crew had given $3000 for holiday baskets to be distributed to various San Diego County communities, Lakeside being one of them. I think this shows Good will toward men on the part of our service men in the Navy. This ship happens to be over in Korean waters at this time, and to think they were thinking of our needy, was a wonderful gesture. Let's offer up a prayer of apprection and ask The Almighty to protect them from harm while fighting for us here at home.

Mrs. Winnie Condon, one of our school secretaries, is certainly floating around on clouds these days. She will be married December 20, and we are glad for Winnie that she is going to be so happy.

Latest reports from the Bowker household are that Ned is feeling much better and gaining in strength each day. That's good news to us who know Ned and we are all hoping for his complete recovery before long.

The Lakeside Electrical Appliance passed out the nicest leather key holders and calendars with a thermometer to those present at the last Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting. Thanks, Dick and Eva Murray. Bob and Marg Watkins served a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmin's and the best mince pie. I don't know how they do it with all the work there is in that bakery, but we're glad they could. Rev. Roberts gave an interesting talk on "Customs around the world at Christmas" which everyone enjoyed.

See you next week folks.

STEAL BY THE HALF-DOZEN

LELAND, Mich. — State police were asked to hunt for thieves who did their stealing "by the numbers" at the Sugar Loaf Mountain ski club. Officers reported they stole six of everything—six pair of skis, six pairs of ski poles and six pairs of ski boots.

COAT TALE

BLISSFIELD, Mich. — L. P. Kinsey, Winter Haven, Fla., headed for a vacation in northern Michigan, left his coat hanging in the washroom of a service station here. He didn't miss it until he reached Traverse City, 300 miles away. He telephoned back and was told the coat was hanging right where he left it—and with $200 in cash and $200 worth of railroad tickets still in the pockets.

Teen-agers in Berlin recently released 24,000 balloons to float into the Soviet zone, each lettered "Freedom for all Europe" and carrying a post card addressed to the sender, who announced himself a member of the Federation of European Youth.

Christian Science Churches Hear Of God's Preserving Power

Biblical illustrations of God's power and willingness to preserve and to heal those who trust in Him are included in the Sunday Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches. The subject will be "God the Preserver of Man."

The Golden Text from Psalms (25:2,21,22) reads, "O my God, I trust in thee: . . . Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee. Redeem Israel, O God, out of all his troubles."

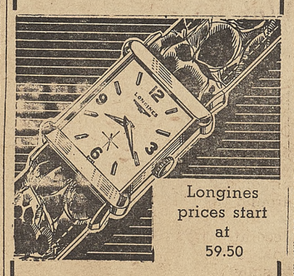

A passage from The Acts (3:6-8) relates that Peter replied to the man, lame from birth, who asked alms at the gate of the temple, "Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk . . . And immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength. And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God."

"Christian Science brings to the body the sunlight of Truth, which invigorates and purifies," declares Mary Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." She continues, "Christian Science acts as an alterative, neutralizing error with Truth. It changes the secretions, expels humors, dissolves tumors, relaxes rigid muscles, restores carious bones to soundness" (p. 162).

CAR THEFTS SOAR

CHICAGO — The number of cars stolen in Chicago has doubled in four years. Lt. John Golden of the police stolen auto detail said that 4,013 were stolen in 1948. He expects this year's total to be more than 8,000. Most of the stolen cars are recovered, Golden said.

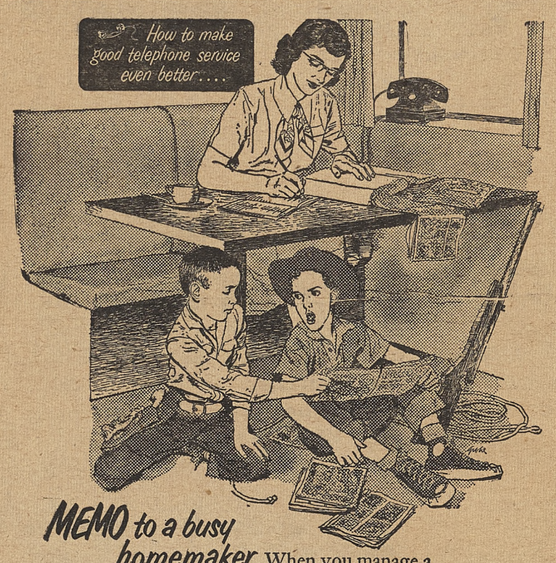

GINGER ALE—$1

BOSTON — It's expensive being a teetotaler in some of Boston's night spots these days. One of them now charges $1 for a glass of ginger ale.

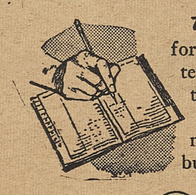

TAPESTRY COMES BIG

COVENTRY, England — When Coventry Cathedral, destroyed during German air raids in 1941, is rebuilt, one of its most imposing sights will be the "Great Tapestry." It s being woven by an Edinburgh firm and will take between three and four years to complete. It will measure 62 by 40 feet.

The first American Christmas Seal Sale, to finance the fight against tuberculosis, was held in 1907. Buy and use Christmas Seals.

MEMO to a busy homemaker When you manage a household, care for your family and carry your fair share of civic responsibilities, time becomes important in your life. It may seem a minor thing—to call a number of friends and inform them that next week's club meeting will be at Jane's home instead of Ruth's. But even such a minor chore takes time. Will you let us give you a time-saving tip? Start a personal number book. You'll be surprised at how much time it will save. And if you check these numbers from time to time—keeping them up-to-date—you'll also avoid the embarrassment of calling wrong numbers.

this free booklet for keeping local and out-of-town telephone numbers is yours for the asking. Telephone, send a postcard or drop in at your nearest Pacific Telephone business office for your free copy.

THE HAPPY BEACHCOMBER

Quite a mournful dirge was voiced at the recent annual national convention of the men's and boys' clothing industry, in New York, by I. M. Cohen, official of a firm manufacturing duds for the American male.

"Business has been sick for some time and now the patient is dying," he said. "In 1918 the industry turned out 21 million suits. In the first six months of this year only nine million suits were made, of which only seven million were of regular variety."

Then Mr. Cohen regretfully revealed that it is the industry's own fault that duds have become a business dud. The long-promoted trend toward casual wear of late years has led to "social acceptance of beachcomber dress; it's getting so a fellow doesn't think he's well dressed unless he's wearing an old pair of baggy pants, a faded denim shirt, and canvas shoes tied with ropes instead of laces."

Ringingly Mr. Cohen called for industry-wide promotion to make men more "clothes conscious" in the fashion of old.

Could be you can make it, Mr. Cohen. But out here in California, where the sun shines and the outdoors beckon and the beachcomber attire you sold us on is so loose and comfortable, it'll take bit of doing!

Prosperity in the Air

Television manufacturers announced this week that they expect to turn out six million sets during 1953, which will mean a retail business of better than a billion and a half dollars for TV dealers. For TV service men alone, the estimate runs, installation of sets will mean more than $100 million, not to mention the business of servicing the new sets plus the more than 19 million already in use.

The significance of this is that once again ,as has happened so often in the past, the peculiarly American genius for invention and mass production has created an entirely new industry almost overnight, so to speak, and almost literally out of thin air!

Ten years ago, the great television industry was only a vision, but it was an American vision. So it was in the past, with the swift and incredible development of the automotive industry in the '20's, the blossoming of the movie industry that established Hollywood as the entertainment capital of the world, and the meteoric spread of radio to a place in every home.

What of our economic development in years to come? What of our standard of living as the years roll on—ten, 20, 50 years from now? It seems incredible that any intelligent American could be a pessimist!

Capitalistic Utopia

Back in 1943, E. G. Shinner, Chicago business leader, decided to apply to his own business the theory that every man can become independent by consistently saving part of his earnings. The business was a retail meat market chain. His plan was to join with his employees in forming an employees' retirement fund, in the hope that eventually the employees could save enough to buy out the business. He would then, according to his plan, retire and let them carry on collectively.

Last week the plan reached fruition. Just as he planned, businessman Shinner retired. Just as he planned, the co-operating employees took over the business, bought and paid for by themselves!

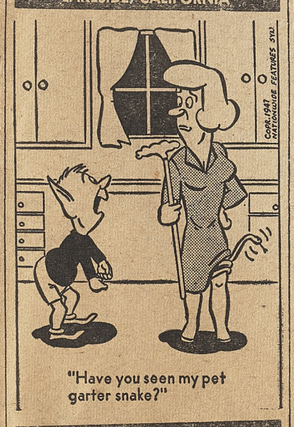

It would seem a sound idea for the Voice of America to pick up that hard-fact story of life in the U. S. A. for broadcast over the Iron Curtain!

TWINS THINK ALIKE

OXFORD, Miss. — Weida and Wanda Goodman of Holly Springs, Miss., are twins in more than looks. They both made the honor roll at the University of Mississippi here with point averages of 4.8.

NAUGATUCK, Conn. — It was a cool summer day but it was getting hot in the post office building. Postmaster Frank T. Green investigated. He discovered the janitor was testing a new furnace.

Marcus Schaeffer, genial operator of the Willows, announces the Red Feather Campaign for the Alpine area will end Thursday, with Alpine reaching its quota. A well done to Marcus, John Mitich and their fellow workers.

The Youth Center Card Party Thursday was well attended and everyone enjoyed the games and refreshments. The television set was won by a lady from Chula Vista. A net of $200.00 was realized.

A much needed service has come to Alpine in the Shoe Repair Shop of Aden D. Gilder. His shop has been opened in the Geo. Butcher Bldg.

Mrs. Blanche McCall and Alice Klipp, of Harbison Canyon, attended the March of Dimes Dinner at the Grant Hotel.
Mrs. McCall announces a Show and dance will be held the evenings of Jan. 30 and 31 and requests the co-operation of all other organizations in refraining from scheduling activities on these dates.

George Butcher of the Alpine Chamber of Commerce announces there will be a meeting at the Womens Club Monday evening, Dec. 15, at which prominent speakers will discuss the subject of School Unification. Although the La Mesa-Lemon Grove fiasco was soundly defeated the subject will arise again inother districts and it is well that we all inform ourselves on the subject.

The Grossmont Hospital Auxiliary will meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Marath, 645 East Chase, in El Cajon, Friday, 10 a.m. Committee reports will be read and there will be an opportunity for the members to get acquainted. Membership is available to all who care to join in this enterprise. Alpine ladies can call Mrs. Carlson, Mrs. Ball or Mrs. McCall.

The Alpine Womans Club is seeking a couple with a trailer to act as care-takers for the Clubhouse. They can park their trailer behind the building and will be supplied with water and electricity. Anyone interested please call Mrs. Young.

KIWANIS CLUB OF ALPINE

A Joint Meeting of the old and new Boards of Directors was held at the home of President-elect Chas. W. Kern, Kernhaven, Sunday evening, Dec. 7, to perfect organization and adopt a program for 1953, which it is anticipated will be a banner year for this organization.

Plans for the Christmas Decorations for Alpine streets are in the hands of Carmelo Manuel. A greatly expanded display is contemplated. John Sheedy will supply the tree.

The Club is planning the Annual Birthday Party for New Years Eve and a big event is expected for this the third anniversary.

The Boy Scouts of Alpine are showing great enthusiasm for the great National Scout Jamboree, to be held at Corona Del Mar in July 1953. Originally is was though only twelve boys would attend under the Sponsorship of the Alpine Kiwanis Club. Now it seems there will be at least twenty. A number of Overnight Camps will be held to train the newer Scouts in camping and Scoutcraft so they may qualify for the Jamboree.

Anyone having work for these boys to earn expense money for this big event please call L. Titus, H4-2479.

L. K. Anderson and sons Pinky and Leigh spent the weekend in Los Angeles attending the Los Angeles Rams Professional Football Game. The trip was an award for good conduct and splendid co-operation during the year.

Jack Wilson, program chairman for December of the Alpine Kiwanis Club, has announced an unusual feature for Thursday, Dec. 11, in the person of Arthur Blackmer, Author of "Keeping Physically Fit is Fun." This is an amazing exhibition of strength and skill and a practical lecture on health and happiness. Mr. Blackmer demonstrates his strength by tearing telephone books in two and driving spikes in wood with his fist. Members are urged to attend and bring their wives, as this apperaance has proved interesting to both sexes. The Los Angles Kiwanis Club voted it the best show of the year.

Residents wishing to subscribe to the El Cajon Record, new or renewal, please contact Lawrence Titus, H4-2479, Alpine. Scouts securining subscriptions will receive a commission, which will help them to raise money for expenses at the National Jamboree. Mrs. Caroline Elstad of Long Beach recently subscribed both to help the Scouts and to read the Alpine news. Send the Record to our boys in the military service as a Christmas present. Price $2.50 yearly, in advance.

Chas. W. Kern, new proprietor of the former Bill Bain Nursery on Highway 80, has secured a large supply of bare root stock trees and shrubs and is joining in the effort to beautify the Mountain Empire by planting trees and shrubs to replace those lost through fire and erosion. Let your children plant a tree and as it reaches toward the heavens, perhaps they too will set their goals toward the stars.

ALPINE SCHOOL SANITATION PROBLEM

With Alpine's new Elementary school rapdily approaching completion a problem of sanitation has arisen which has proved to be a king sized headache for the School Board, state and county health authorities and the public in general. The original plans called for a septic tank system, for which $15,000.00 was allotted. Now, with the buildings almost ready for accupancy, the state and county health depts. have discovered that water runs downhill and have refused to approve plans for the septic tank because it would contaminate the school well and the Youth Center well, which lie well below the level of the proposed septic tank.

At a public hearing Saturday the Water Pollution Board, State Health Dept. representative, county health dept. officials and Mr. Brown, School Superintendent, explained the situation to a small gathering of local residents. Then the meeting was adjourned while all present visited theschool and surrounding area seeking a solution of the problem. Following this inspection the meeting was reopened and the Water Pollution Board chairman, M. L. Shelton, read a resolution recommending a temporary solution which included a septic tank as orginially planned, with drainage into Alpine Creek. There was a proviso calling for re-examination of the question next March or April.

One group, including the Chamber of Commerce represented by Cecil Lewison, offered two alternate proposals, one being that the School Board take over the site of the proposed Alpine Sewage Disposal Plant, complete the plant, run pipe-lines to the school and then lease the plant to the Alpine Sanitation Disttrict for 99 years. This was offered as a quicker solution, as the completion of the Alpine Sanitation system as a whole, if the bonds are voted at the Jan. 6 election, will take at least a year, and the school problem is immediate.

The other proposal by this group was, if the bonds are voted, to build the disposal plant at once and run the pipe-lines to the school, completing the rest of the system later.

The Pollution Board adopted their original resolution, providing for a temporoary septic tank, with inspection and re-examination of the whole question next March or April.

A representative of the Alpine Youth Center Corp. entered formal objection and announced an emergency meeting of the Youth Center Board of Directors would be called for Tuesday evening, Dec. 9, to consider the matter and its effect on Youth Center property. The meeting was then adjourned, with no one happy and the possibility the fine new school may next March or April be closed and stand useless as a monument to someone's failure to investigate in advance this question of sanitation for our $500,000.00 investment.

The members of the Water Pollution Board were Dr. J. B. Askew, Chief of the Joint City and County Health Dept., San Diego, Bernard Noden, Wade Ambrose, M. L. Shelton, Chairman, H. E. Miller, secretary and Arthur Rheinhart, State Health Dept.

Also present were Frank Brown, School Supt.; Mr. Rugger for the School contractors, Mr. Foss, pioneer rancher of the area, Cecil Lewinson of the Alpine Chamber of Commerce, Judge Walters, of the Alpine Water Resources Board, Mary Doerr and L. Titus, of the Alpine Youth Center Corp. Sam Hamill, school architect and a dozen local residents.

A LOT OF CARS

If every car and truck owner in the state of California tried to go for a ride on the same Sunday afternoon, there would be a vehicle every 9 yards on every paved street and highway in the state.

Fortunately, the odds are against this happening, since the average motorist spends only about 25 "days" a year in his car, James J. Newman, vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Company, said today.

He pointed out that estimates of American automobile usage and driver habits show that the average motorist drove 9,000 miles last year. At his average pace of 30 miles an hour, this totals 300 hours, or 25 daylight driving days. This is only 6.8 percent of the daylight hours in a year, he said.

Newman said that the state's motor vehicle registration today is at its highest mark in history and by the end of this year will reach an estimated 5,134,000. Hard-surfaced road mileage in both rural and urban areas of the state is 25,187, which is also a new high, he added.

He reported that drivers throughout the nation feel traffic jams are responsible for the loss of milions of dollars in wasted time alone. Newman said B. F. Goodrich estimates a national increase of 12,000,000 car and truck registrations to bring the nation's total to 65,500,000 motor vehicles by 1960. This, he said, seems to leave little chance for an early let-up in today's traffic congestion.

Newman, former chairman of the Inter-Industry Highway Safe[illegible] Committee ,said he believes [illegible] the nation's traffic problem [illegible]uld be solved if authorities start to work now on an expanded national highway program, improved parking and unloading facilities, and revisions of outmoded traffic systems and regulations.

Observers Needed For Civil Defense

You worry about income tax — how to get a new TV set — and about the crab grass in your lawn. Your home and family are uppermost in your thoughts and you protect against danger to them in any way possible. In Short, you get ulcers over a lot of things which tomorrow could be wiped from the earth in one short, terrorizing moment.

Let's do a little investigating. In July 1952 our nation was told that the USSR can strike any major target area in this country with 400 bombers only 11 hours after they leave Russian perimeter bases.

Any one of those bombers flying at low altitude could evade our radar network and our jet inteceptors. That's why the Ground Obcserver Corps was activated on a 24-hour basis July 14th. They alone can guarantee that there will be no low-altitude gaps in our Air Defense.

Your neighbors are giving 4 hours a week and in many cases much more to protect you and I from Atomic Chaos. Sure, they worry about mortgages and time payments — and a milion other things.

But they know that all this is to no avail if ever our nation undergoes a successful atomic attack.

You've been a parsite long enough. It's time you started paying a little interest on the most priceless investment you have — your American Citizenship.

Why are you so different from the thousands of Americans who have already payed so dearly? All we ask today is 4 hours a week. Call your local Ground Observer Corps representative, Floyd N. Englant, at Hilldale 4-7127 today, and ask how you can help make security a reality.

NEW DISEASE

A new type of ringworm of the scalp has crossed the Mexican border into San Diego County. Because the infected hairs break off close to the scalp, they appear to be black dots, which has given the disease the name of "Black Dot Ringworm."

"Black Dot Ringworm" is very resistant to treatment. For this reason, children who have the disease will be excluded from school until cured.

Ringworm is not caused by a worm, but by a tiny plant called a fungus. It is a contagious disease that is usually passed from child to child.

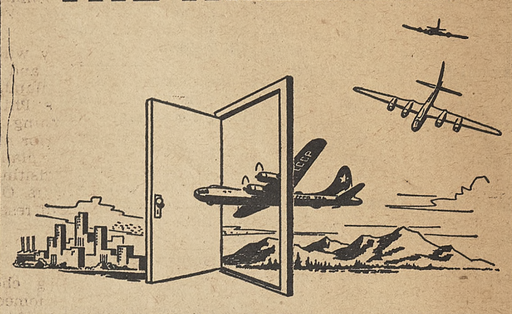

A few common sense rules will help protect your children.

- Teach your children not to try on or wear head coverings belonging to other children.
- Give each child his own comb and brush.
- Teach your child not to use combs or brushes belonging to or used by other children.
- See that your children's pets are healthy. Pets may carry ringworm, too.
- Teach your children not to rub their heads against theatre or bus seats.
- Shampoo each child's hair regularly and examine the scalp for signs of ringworm.
- Help your children understand why they must be careful to follow these suggestions.

If you think your child has suspicious signs of ringworm of the scalp, see your doctor immediately.

The United States, with less than 6 per cent of the world's land area ,has about 29 per cent of the earth's railway mileage.

NOTICE TO THE KREMLIN:

THE BACK DOOR IS OPEN!

The following editorial from "The New York Times" of August 3 tells a grim story which every citizen of this area should know... and should act on now!

OPERATION SKYWATCH

New York's "Operation Skywatch," which has been manned twenty-four hours a day since it was begun, on July 14, may soon be forced to curtail its operations unless more of our citizens heed the call for volunteers for the Ground Observer Corps. The situation is worse in many other parts of the country,* although the Air Force has warned that Russia-based bombers could bore in under the 5,000-foot floor of effective radar screening to carry a sneak air attack within our borders.

If the masters of the Kremlin have indeed made plans for such an attack they must take comfort in the indifference of the American public to the warnings of its appointed experts. Hostile bombers must be tracked in their progress if they are to be effectively intercepted. Without an adequate network of aircraft-spotter stations an enemy air penetration would be as difficult to intercept as a mosquito in a dark room.

At an emergency meeting last week civil-defense officials reported that around-the-clock vigilance was maintained only because a few unselfish persons in the present roster of volunteer aircraft spotters have accepted weekly tours of duty four times as long as they had signed up for. Nine hundred sky watchers are needed to staff the city's three spotter stations; only a third of the necessary number has volunteered. In a message to the meeting Mayor Impellitteri expressed his alarm and astonishment that so few of the city's eight million residents had responded to the call. Col. Harley Sather, civil-defense director of the Eastern Air Defense Force, told the meeting that a failure of "Skywatch" would be like posting a notice to thieves that all doors were guarded except the back door.

One thing is certain: if an enemy attack should occur there would be plenty of volunteers among the survivors. It is almost as likely that there would be more survivors if enough spotters were on duty beforehand to guide the interceptor planes to the attackers.

MODERN FURNACE MOVES UPSTAIRS TO KITCHEN, ALCOVE—OR ATTIC

by the General Electric Heating Institute

Not all social climbers, it seems, are people.

This may come as a distinct surprise, but the fastest social climber of recent years has been the once lowly furnace.

Taking advantage of today's trend toward basementless homes and the need for utilizing every bit of living space, many furnaces have donned new attire and moved upstairs (and up the social scale) to such unlikely places as the kitchen, hall closet and attic.

According to G-E Heating Institute engineers, any resemblance between today's sleek heating plants and the bulky, old-fashioned head-bumping furnaces of grandfather's day is purely coincidental. So if you're cramped for space in the plans for your new home, one place where you can pick up additional living area without enlarging on the original floor plan is in the selection of your heating plant.

Dressed Up For the Kitchen

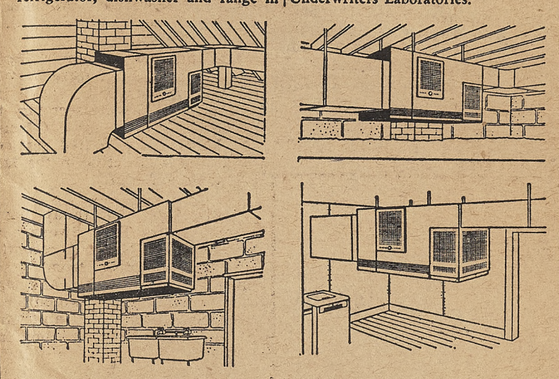

Take, for example, the boiler which is now the kitchen companion of the refrigerator, dishwasher and range in many homes. Only the size of a small refrigerator, this unit, dressed in an attractive white jacket, matches the appearance of other appliances found in today's kitchen.

Or, if you'd rather tuck your furnace off in the attic, there are "horizontal" furnaces about 25 inches high that may be mounted on the attic floor under the eaves, out of sight and out of mind. This same furnace may also be hung from floor joists in the crawl space of homes without basements. Or it may be hung from floor joists in conventional basements, leaving the basement floor free for other purposes.

Put It In a Closet

There are also heating plants as small as 18 inches in width, which may be conveniently hidden in a closet or located in any out-of-the-way alcove.

Sounds almost unbelievable to have the heating plant in your kitchen, attic or closet, doesn't it? But it's true. And what's more, it is completely safe. Entirely insulated, the units are listed by Underwriters Laboratories.

Here are four suggested ways of installing a "horizontal" furnace: in the attic (upper left); in a crawl space (upper right); in the basement (lower left); in a utility room (lower right).

Clean Gutters Help Forestall Leaks in Roof

Clean leaves from roof gutters before winter begins and you may keep your roof from leaking.

An accumulation of leaves dams up water that has drained from the roof. In cold weather, the water freezes. Ice can build up high enough to prevent runoff water from dripping off the edge of the roof and to force it back under shingle tabs.

Working its way between overlapping shingle layers, the water then is able to reach the roof deck and leak into the house through cracks between boards.

A leak of this kind also can originate in snow that slides off a roof and lodges in the gutter, indicating that additional protection is necessary even if gutters are kept free of leaves.

With asphalt roof shingles, the standard home roofing material, the recommended additional protection is an "eaves flashing strip" of roll roofing that is laid along the eaves before shingles are applied. This provides a layer of waterproof material under the top roof covering.

In the application of asphalt shingles, as in the use of any other building material, recommended methods should be followed for best results. The purpose of manufacturers' directions, which are based on extensive practical testing, is to offer a means of obtaining from asphalt roofing the full length of service it is capable of giving.

Early Diagnosis Cheats Cancer

Special gynecologic examinations of supposedly well women during routine physical check-ups are the only known means of reducing deaths from cancer of the cervix, which kills 16,000 comparatively young women each year, it was stated in a recent (October 11) Journal of the American Medical Association.

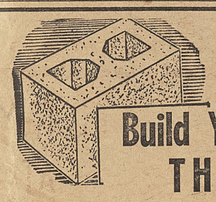

Cancer of the cervix is curable in 70 to 80 percent of the cases if diagnosed early.

However, only one case in five is diagnosed in the earliest stage. Many women fail to go to their physician when symptoms first appear.

Moreover, the authors said, in many cases of cervical cancer, no symptoms appear until late in the disease. Therefore, it is necessary for supposedly well women to visit their physician for regular physical check-ups including vaginal examinations.
